STUDENTS OF PEACE INSTITUTE
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Dedication

To the members of the Peace Campaign Committee, who, individually, have not been too busy to leave their daily occupations to work for a Greater Peace Institute; who, as a committee, represent every administration in the history of Peace; who are linked together in one great thought, that of enlarging and modernizing the physical plant at Peace, in the hope that the individuality of Peace may be as distinct in the future as it has been in the past— we dedicate this volume of

MRS. LUCINDA JONES FEILD MCLELLAND

Born at "Glenwood," in Warren County, N. C.

Supervisor of Music Practice at Peace, 1919-1927

"Little Mrs.," an unforgettable little person; unbelievably quaint and adorable. Her thin, inimitable treble summoning the proctors, her demure station inside the minute music practice office, and her small, brisk footsteps hurrying about early and late, were essentially a part of her. And she lingers—a gentle, fragrant memory—in the heart of every Peace girl.

AND now the big opening day is here—
Come one and all from far and near!
We've tried so hard to improve our show
And we hope you'll like each performance, although
You must be careful with the monkeys, so dear,
For young they are; and to you 'twill be clear
That to tantalize lions is folly extreme
When they're so proud and so dangerous as ours seem.
And when you've seen and heard all we know
From the grand old lot to the big after-show,
We hope that we will have met your wildest expectations
And that you will see us all again in our future demonstrations.

The Campus

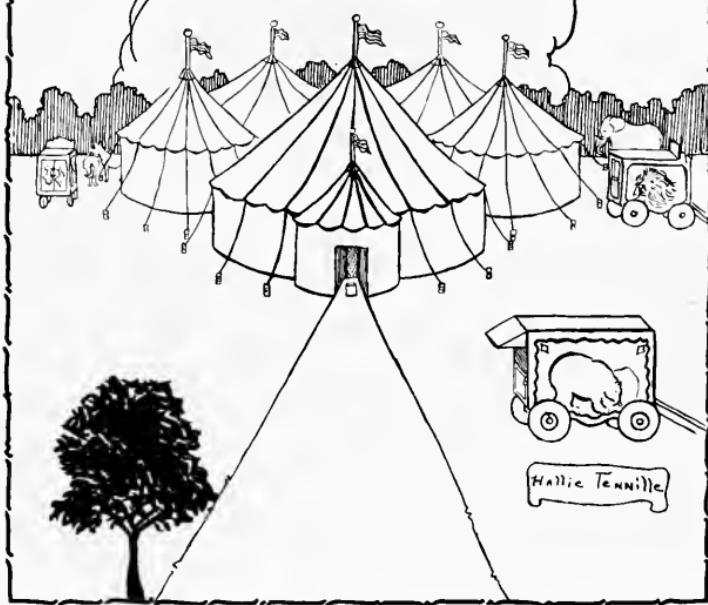

THE immutable columns, ivy hung,
Brushed by the oak's kind arm,
Regard with a pensive, tender air
The lure of the campus' charm—

The scurrying feet of the silver squirrel
The bird's song, gay and sweet,
The green and gold of the sun-bathed grass,
Trodden by youthful feet.

MRS. MARY GOODWIN FOWLER

Mrs. Fowler

MRS. Mary Goodwin Fowler was born seventy-two years ago on a rambling old farm in Chowan county, North Carolina. As Mary Goodwin she lived happily there for fifteen years, and then, in 1870, moved with her family to Raleigh, where she met and married Mr. Richard Fowler. Of her four children, three now survive. Mr. Fowler died while the children were small, and Mrs. Fowler, in her competent control of the situation, and in her untiring efforts, that made possible the education of her children, displayed nobility of character that commands our admiration. During this period she was matron at the Oxford Masonic Orphanage, at Littleton College, and at Greensboro College for Women. Old friends, old ties, and old associations are constantly referred to by her; rarely does she leave the campus that she is not joyously confronted by some one whom she has befriended in earlier years.

Mrs. Fowler came to Peace in 1905. She had complete supervision over the infirmary and the grounds, and was matron of the school, performing singly and with characteristic vigor and thoroughness, duties which would have kept three ordinarily endowed mortals busy. She entered Peace during the Dinwiddie administration and has served through the administrations of Dr. Stockard, Dr. Ramsey, Miss Graham, and Dr. Pressly. These twenty-two years of her life she has devoted unsparingly, and her interest in the school is, accordingly, a strong and vital thing.

It is inspiring to note the devotion accorded Mrs. Fowler by the servants of the place. The majority of them have worked under her supervision for a number of years and in a great measure their fidelity may be attributed to her remarkable influence. Their adoration for "Ma" Fowler is a commingling of loyalty and gratitude. She is their friend.

Mrs. Fowler is perhaps the most beloved member of the Peace family, and undoubtedly the most entertaining. She is primarily a mother, with an insight into human nature that is as rare as it is beautiful. Time, with its turbulent ruthlessness, has not succeeded in effacing the eternal youth of her; but it has given to her a wisdom as pungent as the homely but curative prescriptions on her neat white shelf. Her comforting arms are the ones to enfold the homesick, despondent little "new girls"; she it is whom the "old girls" upon their return ecstatically embrace.

Her seventy-two years have not touched the amazing vitality of spirit that is the predominant note of her personality. She is a handsome woman, whose beauty of person has been enriched by the stamp upon it of a life freely and deeply lived. A droll wit and a caustic tongue, whose frank honesty is tempered by the mischievous twinkle in her sparkling black eyes, an utter lack of pretension, and a humorous grumbling whose formidableness dissolves on acquaintance, are but a few of her endearing characteristics.

She is as definite a part of Peace as its massive white columns or its familiar, time-honored hymns; as intriguing as secrets etched on its shallow window sills; "as young as the youth surging within its walls,

ELIZABETH SEAGLE ALLEN

Raleigh, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '26-27-28; President of Day Student Council, '28; Historian of Senior Class, '28; Treasurer of Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '28.

Serious and studious, yet taking an active part in various campus activities, Elizabeth is a typical Peace girl. Her interest in Peace is of long standing, for when she was a little girl she was for a year a member of the primary class here. After an absence of some years she returned at the beginning of her Senior year in the Preparatory Department. She has made a place for herself at Peace that will be hard to fill.

SADIE RAE BARNES

Raleigh, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-28.

A sigh, a laugh, a flash of color, and there's Sadie Rae. Vivacious, interested in people, and a good friend to all, she laughs her way through life. She has a rather careless air and to some she seems indifferent. But really, Sadie Rae has a deep interest in all that goes on around her and she is willing to do her part.

NANCY A'LAIRIE BEDDINGFIELD
Raleigh, N. C.

Psi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-28.

Nancy—everybody's friend. Nancy is never sad; she always wears a smile. She is well-endowed with dry wit and she always has a joke for any occasion. She loves to "bull." Nancy is generous, understanding, and sympathetic.

MARGIE BRICE
Fairmont, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-28.
Green Tennis Team, '27

Margie always finds time for everything—studying her many lessons, playing the piano, helping everybody, having a good time, reading telegrams, specials, and oh! so many letters! At parties and after dinner crowds surround her, begging for the latest "jazz," which she is always ready to play. Margie is a capable, friendly, and likeable girl.

FLORENCE HELEN BRIGGS

Raleigh, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-'28; Associate Editor of Voices of Peace, '28; Vice President of Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '28; Day Students' Council, '28.

Florence will always be outstanding. She possesses enviable ability to perform difficult tasks, and she has assurance and poise. She lacks the pettiness usually attributed to the feminine sex, and is a loyal and enthusiastic friend. Strong in her opinions, yet unbiased in judgment, clever as a student, yet an incurable lover of mirth, she is an admired member of the class.

R.H.C.

MARY ELIZABETH BYNUM

Raleigh, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-'28

"Modest Mary"—a fitting appellation for this gentle girl. A bit wistful, quite shy, and very much a dreamer. She has found her place among us, as a generous hearted, lovable school friend and as an artist of ability. Mary's musical talent seems to harmonize with her character, and to render her doubly appealing.

ALICE ALEXANDER CARR

Mooresville, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-28; Representative to Student Body, '28; Student Council, '28; P. S. C. Cabinet, '28; Editor-in-Chief of Voice of Prayer, '28; Associate Editor of Lure, '27-28; Class Prophet, '28; Beta Pi Delta, '28; Tin Pan-Hellenic Club, '28; Sophie more Basketball Team, '27; Green Tennis Team, '27.

Realism is utterly unknown to our fair Alice. An inveterate weaver of gay fantasies, she lives in a realm of make-believe. An incurable dreamer, an impetuous, lovable girl, a loyal friend, a princess remote and chilling. A versatile and interesting girl—Alice.

DAPHNE AMELIA CLARK

Clarkton, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-28; Treasurer of Student Body, '28; Student Council, '28; Treasurer of Senior Class, '28; P. S. C. Cabinet, '28; Athletic Honor Society, '27; Beta Pi Delta, '28; Tennis Team, '27; Basket ball Team, '27; Fire Lieutenant, '28.

One's first impression of Daphne is of a quiet, gentle girl with an appealingly wistful expression and delightful, unpretentious mannerisms. On acquaintance she develops interestingly and becomes a dominant figure in the annals of school life. Her ideals are imperishable, her sense of responsibility admirable, and her loyalty and sincerity a source to which may be traced the interest and affection of all her schoolmates.

LILLY CRINKLEY

Raleigh, N. C.

Psi Theta Mu Literary Society '27-28; Associate Editor of Lori's '28.

There have been many romances written about Lilly. Not that the heroine was necessarily called by that name, but the person was the same. She is beautiful, lovely, and sweet—the type of girl that men inevitably fall in love with, and women like to know. Her sincerity enhances the charm of her beauty and makes her a delightful companion.

CELESTE EDGERTON

Kenly, N. C.

Psi Theta Mu Literary Society '27-28; President of P. S. C. A. '28; Commencement Marshal '27.

Celeste is a definitely distinctive girl. There is a tinge of indifference and aloofness about her that repels and yet attracts. Her poise and assurance make her a remarkably capable girl and one who will always be outstanding.

1926

1926

JANE JEANETTE ERNST

Monroe, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '25-'26-'27-'28; President of Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '28; Treasurer of Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27; Commencement Marshal, '27; Drama Club, '25; Day Students' Club, '25-'26.

Jeanette is a child of Fate's golden mood. She is as gay and carefree as the warm caress of sunlight or the jubilant song in the throat of the thrush. An expansive and appealing friendliness constitutes a great part of her undeniable charm. True in her friendships, generous and impulsive by nature, and lovable. She is like a flower newly awakened.

REBECCA PARKER GRANT

Mocksville, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '28

Rebecca joined our class in its Senior year, coming to us from Duke University. During her year with us, her originality, wit, and pleasing personality have won a distinguished place for her on the campus. Rebecca has been a decided asset to the Senior class. She has always been the same good-natured, quiet girl whose company everybody enjoys.

MARGARET ROSE GREEN

Raleigh, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-'28; Assistant Editor of Voices of Peace, '28; White Tennis Team, '28; Loris Advertising Staff, '28; Day Students' Club, '27

"Versatile" sums up Margaret as well as any one word can. Put her on the basketball court and she is lightning itself; seat her at the piano and she plays the music of the masters; give her a drawing to do in the Biology lab, and she does it correctly. One may say that Margaret plays like a professional in any position.

R. G.

DOROTHY HOLMAN

Raleigh, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '28.

Dorothy is rather quiet and reserved, but those who know her know that she likes a jolly good time. She has a rather serious appearance, but she also has a sense of humor. Dorothy has an earnest and friendly nature. She is a good worker and a sincere friend.

Frances's career in school has spelt success. She has the enviable qualities of a fine student and a splendid pal. Perhaps no girl in school has more true friends or has been a truer friend than Frances. She is refreshingly laughter-loving, gay, and frank, a clever worker and altogether rather wonderful.

MILDRED KICHLINE*Raleigh, N. C.*

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '28.

Mildred possesses many enviable traits, qualities that combine to render her the admirable girl that she is. A good student and the pride of her instructors; a quiet, unassuming girl, and the friend of all her schoolmates. Mildred has found her place in the scheme of life at Peace.

ANNE CAMBRELING MELICK

Elizabeth City, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-28; Student Council, '28; Editor-in-Chief of LOTUS, '28; President of Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '28; Associate Editor of LOTUS, '27; Statistics, '27-28; Captain of White Athletic Team, '27; Gamma Epsilon, '28; White Gym Team, '27; Dramatic Club, '27.

The embodiment of mischief is "Rooney," a veritable elf of caprice, with perhaps a piratical ancestor or two. Dignity she seldom assumes, but when she chooses, she may don a thousand moods with equal impunity. A laugh, and Annie Rooney strides down the hall —a raucous noise, and her cheerful voice rises in song—an ominous muttering, and she is emitting adjectives concerning her Annual.

MARY MCNAIR PATTERSON

Marton, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '26-27-28; President of Senior Class, '28; Vice President of Student Body, '28; President of Junior Class, '27; Student Council, '27-28; P. S. C. A. Cabinet, '28; Treasurer of Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '28; Statistics, '27-28; Beta Pi Delta, '27-28; Dramatic Club, '27; Fire Lieutenant, '27.

One seldom succeeds in unearthing a girl who possesses the good will of all her sex, particularly if fortune has favored her with various endowments. Mary Pat has accomplished the impossible. She is gracious and charmingly naive, a girl whose friendship is steadfast and enduring, whose sympathies are impulsive and abounding, and whose interests are closely allied with those of her friends.

EMILY ELIZABETH POLLOCK*

New Bern, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '28.

Superlatively absent-minded and undoubtedly in love. The oddest giggle and the most even temperament of the whole student body are hers without question. Personality she must possess. It is another of her young charms.

Dropped some Senior work to do special work in expression. Experts to receive her diploma at later date.

MADGE RINER

Savannah, Georgia

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-28; President of Student Body, '28; Student Council, '27-28; Vice President of Junior Class, '27; Associate Editor of LOTUS, '27-28; Statistics, '27-28; Gamma Epsilon, '27-28; Dramatic Club, '27; Fire Lieutenant, '27.

Madge—pale moonlight—the delicate odor of jasmine—the embodiment of all that is romantic and intriguing. There is an elusive, indifferent air about her that is unusual in this modern age, and a cool, composed self-assurance that is admirable. Clever, poised, capable, she is a remarkable and efficient leader. Lovely, exquisite, dainty—an altogether fascinating girl.

GRACE ELIZABETH SNIPES

Dunn, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-'28; Vice President of Senior Class, '28; Beta Pi Delta, '28; Tin Pan Hellene, '27-'28; Elizabeth Club, '28.

The call for Snooty to play the piano after dinner is as regular a part of the daily schedule as the ringing of the bell for class. She is undoubtedly talented and undeniably generous with her accomplishments. Always gay—always smiling—always in demand—Snooty.

KATHLEEN STEVENS

Varina, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-'28; Treasurer of P. S. C. A., '28; P. S. C. A. Cabinet, '28; White Tennis Team, '27; Fire Lieutenant, '28.

Dependability is the adjective that has been created for her. Kathleen's personality is not a clamoring one; rather it has a tendency towards self-effacement but her stand for fair play and quiet, good fellowship have earned for her the genuine friendship of all her classmates.

MARY LOU VENTERS

Richlands, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '28.

A girl whose friendship is well worth cultivating. A bit reserved and aloof, perhaps, on first acquaintance, but one who develops interestingly and expressively, revealing to her friends a personality that invites the warmest friendship and the sincerest admiration.

MARTHA LOUISE WHITE

Elizabeth City, N. C.

Psi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-28.

She should have been called Joyce or Arden, for the name of Martha is entirely too prosaic for the charm of her personality. She is a modern girl with all the endearing qualities of an old-fashioned maid of yester-year. Her sincerity, her ardor, and her unaffected sweetness make her a lovable girl.

ELLA RUTH WILLIAMS

Elizabeth City, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-'28; P. S. C. A. Cabinet, '28; Junior Basketball Team, '27; Monogram Club, '28.

She is a quaint little person of minia-ture size with adorably ridiculous small feet. Her gay, ceaseless chatter is as refreshing as April showers, and as unexpected. Tenacious in opinions, she is entertainingly different, and loyally staunch. Ruth is endowed with sterling qualities, among which is the readiness and thoroughness with which she undertakes the hardest task.

NANCY ANDERSON YORK

Raleigh, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '26-'27-'28; Business Manager of LOTUS, '28; Associate Editor of Voices of Peace, '27-'28.

Anderson coming into class with a book tucked under her arm, Anderson with her work always in hand, Anderson efficiently manipulating the difficult cogs of the Annual machine—Anderson as a good friend, interested and interesting.

Senior Class Poem

DEAR Alma Mater, that hast been
My dearest and most helpful friend,
Before I leave thy safe embrace
To find my own predestined place
In God's great plan,
Let me go back again and see
The things that have meant most to me;
That I may keep in memory
All that I can.

The dear old chapel, gym, and halls,—
Each one some happy scene recalls.
The wide broad floors and creaky stairs,
High ceilings and quaint doors and chairs
Of mellowed wood
Hint not a bit of drear decay,
But of the charm of yesterday,
When time chose gently to display
A gracious mood.

Here, in a campus more than fair,
Thou'rt mounted like a jewel rare;
Around thy columns, ivy twines
Serenely, and more stately lines
Were never seen;
And yet, despite thy regal way,
Thy sweet, maternal care holds sway,
Reminding me, somehow, of a
Madonna Queen.

So let me sing a song of praise,
In gratitude for happy days,
To my old school within the grove,
For whom my loyalty and love
Will never cease;
May time continue to refine,
May ivy in abundance twine,
And with our loyalty combine
To preserve Peace.

LILLY CRINKLEY.

Senior Class History

SENIOR class histories are usually very similar, but the history of the Senior class of 1928 is somehow exceptional. Little did some six or eight girls here in the Prep department three years ago realize that they would some day be a part of so brilliant and distinguished a class as the class of 1928 has proved to be.

This same small group of girls entered Peace as Juniors in the early fall of 1926, and were soon joined by a large number of new classmates. Yet to these few, who had graduated from the Prep department in the previous year, was given the honor of blazing the trail. Nor did they fail in their task, for among those few were future leaders of the class.

Some of our greatest wishes as Juniors came true when we were accorded certain shopping and visiting privileges that are looked on with such envy by those who are not permitted to exercise them.

On the night before departure for Christmas holidays last year the Junior class carried out a very beautiful and impressive ceremony on the campus. Dressed in white, and carrying lighted candles, we assembled around a Christmas tree on the lawn. After a brief moment of silent prayer we sang favorite Christmas carols.

The event most outstanding in the minds of the Juniors was, of course, the Junior-Senior banquet, to be held in the spring. We had only heard of what a wonderful occasion this annual entertainment always was, and at last it was our privilege really to experience all the thrills which accompanied it.

The fall of 1927 marked the return to Peace of most of the old Juniors, together with a few new girls, all reveling in the very thought of being Seniors. Could anything be more wonderful than to be an honest-to-goodness Senior?

Certainly not in the opinion of the members of this Senior Class as Commencement drew nearer. It is true we often toiled seemingly endless hours to attain our goal, but we always had time to enjoy ourselves, and we shall always remember this year. Again the Junior-Senior banquet stands out in our memory, more, probably, this time than before, as it was given, this year, in our honor.

It is with these cherished memories that we leave Peace, and with our hearts full of good wishes for the success of a greater Peace in the near future,

Last Will and Testament

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
COUNTY OF WAKE
CITY OF RALEIGH

PEACE INSTITUTE

WE, the class of 1928, having miraculously survived examinations, and the hardships of two years of college life, and still being sound in mind and body, do declare this to be our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

- Section 1. To the incoming Senior class, we bequeath all our privileges.
Section 2. We hope they will be able to enjoy said privileges longer than the first quarter.
Section 3. May they prove better examples for the student body than their immediate predecessors have been.

ARTICLE II

- Section 1. To the class of 1930, we bequeath the privilege of writing research essays in Junior English.
Section 2. We will the hope of some day being able to use the telephone.

ARTICLE III

- Section 1. To the classes of 1931 and 1932 we bequeath the untold pleasure of attending study hall.
Section 2. We will the hope of being Seniors—some day.
Section 3. We will consolation.

ARTICLE IV

- Section 1. To our class teacher, Miss Kuhns, we leave our love and devotion.
Section 2. To Miss Ingraham, we leave a class that can recite without using "like" for "as."

1928

1928

Section 3. To Miss Crow, we leave the privilege of seeing that the girls get their hour's exercise.

Section 4. To Miss McLelland we leave a learned Bible class.

Section 5. To Miss Davis we leave a perfect system by which there will be no absences and tardies.

ARTICLE V

Section 1. Frances Hubbard leaves her brilliant grades to Stella Slade.

Section 2. Maggie Sears bequeaths her vermillion lipstick to Anne Ball.

Section 3. Ruth Williams leaves that certain little indefinable something to Mary Kuykendall.

Section 4. Daisy Lee Carson, better known as "Daisy Bud," leaves her aptitude for early rising to Margaret Pippin.

Section 5. Margaret Green leaves her "life-size portrait" to Lydia Mitchiner.

Section 6. Mary Lou Venters leaves her numerous "boy friends" to Mary Ford Elam.

Section 7. Madge Riner leaves her poise and her sophisticated airs to Dixie Middleton.

Section 8. Grace Snipes leaves her ability to play the piano to Cornelia McKinnon. We hope that the occupants of front rooms will no longer be disturbed by a motley array of day students yelling for Grace to come down and play.

Section 9. Anderson York wills her ability to shift responsibility to Mary Kirkland.

Section 10. Daphne Clark leaves her argumentative powers, developed in Education A-2 to Minnie Lew Gilliam.

Section 11. Emily Pollock leaves her little blue jacket to Martha Clark.

Section 12. Jeannette Ernst leaves her ability to bluff to Edith Mangum.

Section 13. Alice Carr bequeaths her love for Greta Garbo to Isabel Bernhardt. May Isabel be more successful in imitating Greta than our fair Alice!

Section 14. Anne Melick leaves her "femininity" to Elizabeth Bearden. It's up to you, Elizabeth, to champion the cause of "us women."

Section 15. Elizabeth Allen wills her serious outlook on life, and her ability to take her work seriously to Aileen MacKay.

Section 16. Mary Patterson leaves her many offices to Allie Louise Fountain.

Section 17. Celeste Edgerton leaves her technique in squealing to Mabel Monroe.

Section 18. Sadie Rae Barnes leaves her lisp to Alice McLean. We're sure this will add greatly to the effectiveness of Al's "baby stare."

We, the class of 1928, leave to our Alma Mater, our love, loyalty, and devotion.

Senior Class Prophecy

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA,

November 4, 1933.

Miss JOHNNIE DOE,

Editor-in-Chief, The 1933 LOTUS,
Peace Institute,
Raleigh, N. C.

MY DEAR MISS DOE:

A few days ago I received a letter from you, asking if I knew anything of the whereabouts of the various members of the class of 1928 and what each is doing.

It so happens that I have recently written each member of the class about our reunion this year, our first one since leaving Peace five years ago. I am giving below excerpts from these letters which I believe will be just about what you want.

Yours most sincerely,

ALICE CARR,
Assistant Editor of Pacific Monthly.

... and as you know, after leaving dear old Peace, I traveled with a light opera company for several years, until I finally married a member of the cast. . . .

Lovingly,

MARGARET GREEN.

... and am now doing post graduate work at Columbia, getting ready for a position as teacher of French at Peace.

Sincerely,

MILDRED KICHLIN.

No, not married yet. I'm entirely too busy enjoying the frivolities of life to settle down.

Most devotedly,

ANNE MELICK.

I am engaged to José Gregano, the great singer, whom I met four years ago while I was still studying in New York. He has given me much inspiration in my musical career.

Lovingly,

MADGE RINER.

. . . and I have been teaching ever since I graduated, and love it so that I feel that I will never give it up for—no not even that. I do not choose to marry.

As ever,

MARY LOU VENTERS

The children are begging me to take them riding, so I will close.

Lovingly,

MARY GREY QUINN.

I, too, am in literary work. I have written several stories. None of them have been published yet, but I try to keep in mind the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed."

With love,

FLORENCE BRIGGS.

I do not claim to deserve the fame that has been heaped upon me for my work in the settlement districts. It has been merely the expression of my tender sympathy for all mankind and I have only done the best I could.

Very sincerely,

NANCY BEDDINGFIELD.

. . . and for once in my life I'm getting enough dancing. Don't be surprised when I tell you that I am in the ballet of the Apex Civic Opera Company.

As ever,

EMILY POLLOCK.

1928

1928

. . . and of course, my husband being in the Senate also makes it rather a political family. I enjoy the life of Washington and my work here in the Capital.

Sincerely,

FRANCES HUBBARD.

The English are indeed cordial to the ambassadors and their wives and I have grown to love London almost as much as dear old Maxton.

Affectionately,

MARY PATTERSON.

. . . and after winning the Beauty Contest at Atlantic City I was offered a leading part in John Sear's "American Rose." It has been running for eight months now on Broadway and has attracted much favorable criticism.

Most devotedly,

LILLY CRINKLEY.

Since swimming the Gulf of Mexico I have been in training in New Orleans preparatory for my next great feat.

Always,

KATHLEEN STEVENS.

Don't be surprised when I tell you that I am leaving next month for Alaska. It has long been my desire to teach in the native schools there, and at last I find my great ambition about to be realized.

Devotedly,

RUTH WILLIAMS.

You have probably heard of my first two unfortunate marriages. I have a firm belief, however, in the charm of the number three and am announcing to the world next week my intention to marry Count Gotalot.

Your sincere friend,

MARGIE BRICE.

. . . and I have finally won over all my family's objections. I am leaving next week for Hollywood.

Lovingly,

DAPHNE CLARK.

This is the third year of our wonderful life together here in Australia. The Prince emphatically insists that it was worth giving up his throne "a thousand times for."

With sincere love,

JEANETTE ERNST.

Perhaps it is hard for you to believe, but I am completely wrapped up in my work in the Secret Service.

As ever,

SADIE RAE BARNES.

My work here in the orphanage is fascinating. Every night after dinner I play the piano while the little girls are taught to dance.

Sincerely,

GRACE SNIPES.

. . . and after keeping afloat on the wings of the plane for two days we were picked up by a French steamer. My next flight will be from New York to Siberia. . . .

With sincere regards,

REBECCA GRANT.

I taught for two years in Hawaii, and there I met the naval officer who is now my husband.

ELIZABETH ALLEN.

1928

1928

. . . and my invention of a dye for changing the color of the eyes brought me much wealth. I am now living on Long Island. . . .

Affectionately,

MARY BYNUM.

. . . the First Lady of the Land sends her love to you.

Always,

MARTHA WHITE.

. . . and my adventures here would more than fill a volume. After completing training at Bellevue I came to this isolated spot in Africa where I am head nurse in a Christian hospital. . . .

Sincerely,

DOROTHY HOLMAN.

. . . my career in the business world has been happy and successful. . . .

With love,

CATHERINE POWELL.

A rich cousin that I had never heard of left me a few million and a ranch in Texas. I am raising cattle and sheep. . . .

As ever,

IDA CURRIE.

. . . and I am now a mannequin on Fifth Avenue. . . .

KATHERINE PITTMAN.

As instructor in skiing at McGee University my duties are interesting and pleasant. I shall never return to the South to stay for long, I think.

Devotedly,

ANDERSON YORK.

Perhaps you will be surprised when you learn that I am studying surgery. . . .

MARIA GORDON.

I was admitted to the bar a year ago after studying law at Carolina. Someone, however, prevailed upon me to give up my career in favor of a woman's job. . . .

Lovingly,

MARTHA MOYE.

Yes, I married him! You knew I would. . . .

CELESTE EDGERTON.

IDA WITHERS CURRIE

Clarkton, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-'28; Athlete Honor Society, '27; Monogram Club, '27; Junior Basketball Team, '27; Tennis Team, '27; Track Team, '27; Gym Team, '27; Fire Lied tenant, '28

A good sport—that's Ida. She takes with a smile what life gives her and in return, she gives every one a square deal. Ida Withers is likable and friendly, with always a cheery word. She's the life of the Commercial class, just as she will probably continue to be the life of any group of which she is a part.

MARIA UTLEY GORDON

Hillsboro, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '28; Secretary, Treasurer of Senior Commercial Class, '28

Maria and Maria's smile are inseparable—one could never feel the least bit blue or homesick under the influence of her geniality. There is a certain reserve about Maria that makes her friendship worth attaining. On acquaintance Maria becomes more and more lovable, revealing sterling qualities which are to be envied. Her poise and assurance add distinctiveness to her personality.

MARTHA MOYE

Greenville, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '28; Vice President of Senior Commercial Class, '28; Coal Bin Kols, '28

All that is good and sweet, all that is true and sincere, all that is smart and attractive. Her sweet gentleness has helped us over many rough places.

KATHERINE LOUISE PITTMAN

Raleigh, N. C.

Pi Theta Mu Literary Society, '27-28; Gym Team, '27; President of Senior Commercial Class, '28

Katherine—efficiency. The two are nearly synonymous. Katherine is outstanding among her classmates. She is always willing to do what she is called upon to do and when she does it, one knows that it is done well. Katherine has a smile for all and she is a ready friend. She has many of the qualities that insure success.

LUCY CATHERINE POWELL

Elizabethtown, N. C.

Sigma Phi Kappa Literary Society, '27-28.

Methodical in a manner that never irritates, capable, and efficient, Catherine has endeared herself to every one. An unobtrusive girl, yet a good friend, ever sympathetic and ever trustworthy.

Us Animals' Evenings

THE curtain falls—The last act (chapel) for the day is done— We scamper to our stalls (bed-rooms) before the manager (proctor) reprobates us for loitering— We stretch and yawn— Tired!— Such a hard day— Audience (teachers) so unappreciative of efforts!— We take off the plumes and feathers— How inviting the straw (bed) looks! But no—the lines (lessons) for the next day must be learned— The lions (Seniors) practice their lines on the origin of correct roaring (Senior English)— The rhinoceroses (Juniors) laugh and joke and never learn their lines— The monkeys (Freshmen) recite in a chorus about their ancestors living in trees—on and on— We do not stop— The performances (classes) next day must be perfect—.

Whoop-ra! The manager (proctor) barks, "Lights out"— Great news— We leap to our straw.

Five minutes later—dreams,

Every Day

THE clang and clash of an iron bell,
A yawn and stifled sigh
A second more to lie in bed,
The moments seem to fly.

A shriek as the bell for walk clangs out,
A hasty spring from bed,
A dash for toothbrush and for comb,
The corner quickly sped.

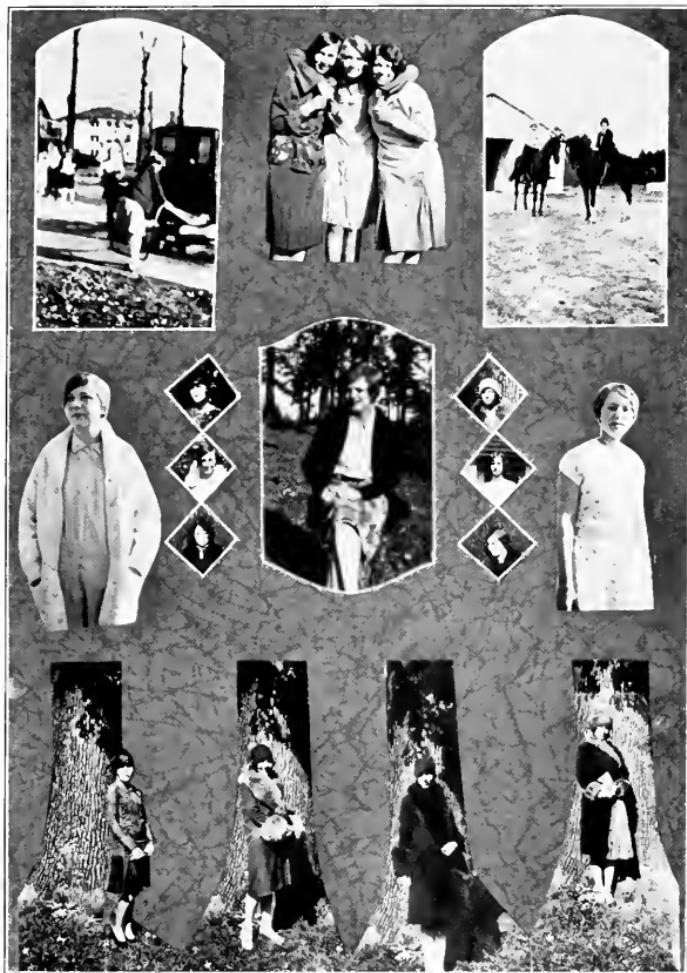

Breakfast served and cleaning done,
Mail call with its thrill,
'Round the corner a piercing cry,
"Celeste, you heard from Bill?"

Classes till the moment
For the hour's exercise,
Groups of girls in oxfords,
Scowls and groans and sighs,

A dash to find a shower,
A shrill voice from within—
"Dessert night, Mabel! Gee, I'm glad!
I'm nearly caving in!"

Chapel, study hall, and bed,
The same thing every day;
The hours at Peace, implacable,
Continue on their way.

Alice McLean, '29.

Snap-shots

WORDS that have never been uttered, songs that have never been sung, and thoughts that have never found expression are often subjects for retrospection. Snapshots that have never been "snapped," particularly in the long, laughing procession of mud school days, should constitute a matter for sad contemplation.

The camera could reveal with its mute and amazing candor scenes that are closely associated with the life at Peace, so that in after years, when stout and staid matrons should peruse musty, frayed old volumes and the fitful light of memory would leap into tired and faded eyes—horrid thought!—there would be delighted cries of, "Look! Mary Grey Quinn with a special in her hand and Emily Pollock talking at random about some construction company in Florida; the blonde Alice Carr being checked by a State College 'Ag' product; Grace Snipes being relentlessly pursued by every one's beau, and Anne Melick raving about her femininity."

"Everybody in love with a Bill—what a relief it would have been to listen to the past, present, or future actions of a John or an Archibald."

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized cooperation with the Staff.

Such able cooperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete cooperation from art work and engravings to the finished book we offer a selected service. Our staff serves means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
